Back to School

I had always longed to get a degree, but raising a family had come first. Now with my last 36 in middle school, I thought, why not try to 37 something while I still had the opportunity. When I told my husband Bob my idea, a broad smile lit up his face. "If that's what you 38, we'll make it work."

When we asked the kids for advice, they had mixed 39. Our daughter, already in college, thought it a great idea while John, in high school, was 40 that we might be in college at the same time. James, our youngest, wanted to know who would take him to football practice. I 41 that things would be a little different, 42 if everyone contributed, it wouldn't be difficult.

The next day we drove to the community college and after a careful research, I chose to 43 in occupational therapy (康复治疗).

Days passed in excitement, enrolling in classes, shopping for 44 and attending orientation (入学指导). I felt like a kid again, but as the first day of classes drew near, I became 45. I was simply too old. People would laugh at me. Finally, with encouragement from my family and friends, I stuck with my 46.

As I entered my classroom that first morning, I chose a seat in the back, hoping to 47 attention. For the rest of that day, I did what I saw the other students do, and gradually, my self-consciousness faded. I found the classes and assignments 48, and I left that day feeling I might survive. By the end of the first week, I had made a few friends.

Studying and keeping up with my duties at home was 49. No sooner would I begin to study than it was time to drive the kids to their activities. Math and science were 50 my strong subjects, so I devoted more time to those. When the first semester 51, I had a 4.0 GPA and was placed on the Honor Roll.

By the second year, Bob and the kids were all doing their 52, and I had learned how to comfortably 53 my school and home life. My hard work paid off. I was awarded a scholarship and got the bachelor's degree.

As I drove away on the last day of school, I thought about what a difference returning to 54 had made in my life. I looked much younger and I had more 55 and enthusiasm for life. I even became a therapist. It's never too late to try again.

第三部分：阅读理解（共两节，40分）

第一节（共15小题：每小题2分，共30分）

阅读下列短文，从每题所给的A、B、C、D四个选项中，选出最佳选项，并在答题卡上将该项涂黑。

A

After finishing my teaching for a school year, I thought that I should go back to Montreal, Quebec, my hometown for a visit. My main goal was to relax in preparation for the challenges of my retirement in the coming year.

Through my stay in Montreal, I met lots of Chinese who are struggling to succeed and then lead a better life in Canada.

Some travelled thousands of miles to get knowledge. When I spoke with some of them about the major barrier they had to face after they arrived in Canada, they all talked about the two official languages of Canada. But I was impressed by their ability to express their ideas while switching between English and French.

Almost all of those people said they often felt homesick. They miss their families and friends. Though Montreal has lots of Chinese restaurants, they long for a home-cooked meal.

I met some tourists who were trying to realize their childhood dreams of experiencing the life in a developed country. When I asked them if Montreal had lived up to their expectations, they hesitated. They said that reality never agrees with fantasies. However, they were glad to have the opportunity to visit Montreal and didn't regret taking the trip.

Not all the Chinese people I met were happy. I once met a young lady who met with a gentleman through the Internet. However, to her disappointment, he disappeared after he promised to marry her in Montreal.

I was served by another Chinese person who could not handle the challenges of studying in an English environment and ended up working in a restaurant with minimum pay.

Exploring different parts of the world, without any doubt, is an enriching experience. However, one should be realistic when it comes to leaving his hometown to set up a new life in a foreign country. One should take the time to examine the advantages and the shortcomings of the venture before they decide to chase an uncertain dream of achieving success or leading a better life.

56. The writer went to her hometown to _____.
A. meet her old friends B. study a new language
C. go on with her teaching D. prepare for her retirement life
57. The main barrier for some Chinese to get knowledge in Canada is _____.
A. food B. homesickness C. language D. income
58. The writer thinks that _____.
A. overseas Chinese are good at communication in Canada
B. the trip to Montreal is a good chance for people to study
C. overseas Chinese feel disappointed at their life in Canada
D. people should think carefully before chasing the dreams abroad
59. What is the best title for the passage?
A. Improving Life Skills in Canada
B. Exploring Different Parts of Canada
C. Struggling for a Better Life in Canada
D. Going to Canada—Your Ideal Destination

B

Have you ever lost your car on a parking lot? You don't have a clue where your car is after shopping. Then you start walking around clicking on your car keys so the alarm goes off. It can be annoying, especially on a hot sunny day.

No, you needn't install(安装) an expensive GPS system to keep track of your car. That's too expensive. You would need to pay a monthly fee to use it.

But is there a way to track your vehicle without spending a fortune? Yes, now there is! A California-based company has created a tiny device that works with your smartphone, which could be exactly what you're looking for!

➤ What is it?

It's called TrackR. It is a state-of-the-art tracking device the size of a coin. It's changing the way we keep track of the important things in our lives.

➤ How does it work?

It's easy! Install the free TrackR app on your smartphone, connect the app to your device and you're ready to go! Simply attach TrackR to whatever you want to keep an eye on. The entire process of setting it up only takes 5 minutes or less.

You can attach it to your keys, briefcase, wallet, your latest tech gadgets and anything else you don't want to lose. Then use the TrackR app to locate your missing item in seconds.

If you forget where you have parked your car, pull out your smartphone and open the TrackR app. Tap on the "find device" button on the screen and the app will tell you the exact spot of the last known location of the TrackR.

➤ What else can I do with TrackR?

The device is small and unnoticeable enough that you can attach it to your pet. Put it on their collar, and the issue of searching for them when they run away to nearby places will be over! You'll never waste a minute searching the whole house for it.

TrackR even comes with a double-sided glue so you can stick it to your laptop or under your bike seat. Track down and punish the thieves who steal your expensive things!

高三英语试题 第6页(共12页)

➤ How much does it cost?

You're probably thinking that this device is very expensive. False! TrackR only costs $29! That's a small price to pay for peace of mind, isn't it?

➤ Where can I buy one?

You can buy it directly from the company's website by clicking <https://buy.thetrackr.co/gu/special-offers/15/>.

60. From the passage, we learn that TrackR can _____.

- A. help you locate your important things
- B. track your wallet through GPS system
- C. work better after you pay monthly fee
- D. take good care of your pets at home

61. This passage is mainly developed by _____.

- A. answering questions
- B. providing statistics
- C. listing advantages
- D. making comparisons

62. Where is this passage most likely taken from?

- A. A research report.
- B. A website.
- C. A personal blog.
- D. A journal.

Old Fossils

Scientists have found what they think is probably the oldest fossil on Earth, a remnant of life from 3.7 billion years ago when Earth's skies were orange and its oceans green.

In a newly melted part of Greenland, Australian scientists found the leftover structure from a community of microbes(微生物) that lived on an ancient seafloor. Based on their analysis of the fossils, the researchers determined that they are 220 million years older than those discovered in Western Australia, which were 3.48 billion years old.

The discovery shows life may have formed quicker and more easily than once thought, about half a billion years after Earth formed. And that may also give hope for life forming elsewhere, such as Mars, said study co-author Martin VanKranendonk of the University of New South Wales and director of the Australian Center for Astrobiology. "It gives us an idea how our planet evolved and how life gained a foothold," VanKranendonk said.

Scientists had thought it would take at least half a billion years for life to form after the molten Earth started to cool a bit, but this shows it could have happened quicker, he said. That's because the newly found fossil is far too complex to have developed soon after the planet's first life forms, he said.

In an outcrop of rocks that used to be covered with ice and snow which melted after an exceptionally warm spring, the Australian team found stromatolites(叠层石), which are layered structures that are often produced by a community of microbes. The stromatolites were about 1 to 4 centimeters high.

"It is like the house left behind made by the microbes," VanKranendonk said. "Scientists used the layers of ash from volcanoes and tiny zircon(锆石) with uranium and estimated that they date back to 3.7 billion years ago."

The dating seems about right, said Abigail Allwood, a NASA astrobiologist who found the previous oldest fossil, from 3.48 billion years ago, in Australia. But Allwood said she is not completely convinced that what VanKranendonk's team found once was alive. She said the evidence wasn't conclusive enough that it was life and not a geologic quirk(地质巧合). "It would be nice to have more evidence, but in these rocks that's a lot to ask," Allwood said in an email.

63. The underlined words "gained a foothold" in Paragraph 3 mean _____.
A. continued B. changed C. increased D. started
64. We can learn from Paragraph 4 _____.
A. the fossil appeared soon after the birth of the earth
B. the fossil formed soon after the earth's first life
C. life formed earlier than the newly found fossil
D. life appeared about half a billion years ago
65. What is Abigail Allwood's attitude towards the newly found fossil?
A. Neutral. B. Sceptical. C. Objective. D. Supportive.
66. According to the passage, _____.
A. the previous fossils are a geologic quirk
B. the previous fossils are made up of stromatolites
C. the newly found fossils come from Western Australia
D. the newly found fossils have a history of 3.7 billion years

D

When Taking an Uber—Should You Tip or Not?

Taking an Uber car may no longer be a direct driver-passenger and guilt-free experience. The ride-sharing experience is about to get awkward.

With the wide application of the Internet, Uber, a new approach to your destination instead of taking an ordinary taxi, has become more popular recently. However, benefits won't come without its fair share of drawbacks.

Uber drivers are a part of the so-called sharing economy: They use their own vehicles, receive customer reviews via the app's five-star rating system and make their own hours. Unlike other services, Uber claimed that drivers all over the country could clearly alert customers that tipping is not included. Those drivers that expect to be tipped can make their wishes known. But the company is holding to its official no-tip-required line, according to its website. "Once you arrive at your destination, your fare is automatically charged to your credit card on file—There's no need to tip." Although drivers value their independence—the freedom to push a button rather than punch a clock, lack of a clear policy, however, leaves Uber drivers in a vulnerable(脆弱的) position: If they ask a customer for a tip or put up a sign, that customer could give the driver a low star-rating, and the driver could finally be deactivated from the app.

But has the company done a good job working with customers? Some observers say that this new grey area for tipping will create awkwardness about whether they should tip or not—something most Uber customers have not had to deal with until now. Uber did not respond to customers' comment, just leaving their rating in the air.

Providing an option to tip on an app sends a clear message to customers to reach into their pockets. Nearly 30% people would be more likely to leave a tip if they were presented with a "no tip" button, according to Guinn's 2015 survey of roughly 500 people. When people are presented with three tip choices—20%, 25% or 30%—they're more likely to choose the middle option even if it's more than the traditional 20%, according to a separate 2014 analysis of 13 million New York City taxi rides.

If the service is twice as expensive during a rain storm or public transport delay, the customer has the right not to tip. However, if the driver is extra helpful or avoids traffic to reach your destination in a more timely manner, you could give an extra tip, says Uber, who will leave tipping options in the hands of the consumer rather than the app.

67. Compared with taxi drivers, Uber drivers _____.
A. enjoy more freedom and choices
B. support the company's practice
C. clock up the miles while driving
D. receive customers reviews directly
68. The underlined word "deactivated" in Paragraph 4 probably means _____.
A. removed B. degraded C. tracked D. charged
69. From the survey we can conclude most customers _____.
A. would probably tip if there is an option
B. usually do as the "no tip" sign suggests
C. tip because of Uber drivers' good service
D. are disappointed to reach into their pockets
70. What causes the awkwardness between Uber drivers and their customers?
A. Customers take advantage of the new grey area for tipping.
B. There is no specific policy from the Uber to follow.
C. It's up to customers to decide the drivers' earnings.
D. Customers tend to pay least among the 3 choices.

第二节（共5小题：每小题2分，共10分）

根据短文内容，从短文后的七个选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

Giant Panda Is No Longer Endangered

A leading international group has taken the giant panda off its endangered list thanks to decades of conservation efforts, but China's government is unwilling to accept the change, saying it did not view the status of the country's beloved symbol as any less serious.

The International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) said in a report that the panda is now classified as a "vulnerable" instead of "endangered" species, reflecting its growing numbers in the wild in southern China. 71 That is the result of work by Chinese agencies to carry out hunting bans and expand forest reserves.

In a statement, China's State Forestry Administration said that it doubted the classification change because pandas' natural habitats have been mainly separated by human causes. The animals live in small, isolated groups of as few as 10 pandas that struggle to reproduce and face the risk of disappearing altogether. If we relax our conservation work, the populations and habitats of giant pandas would still suffer a great loss. 72 Therefore, we're not being alarmist (危言耸听的) by continuing to emphasize the panda species' endangered status.

73 John Howard, a senior official at World Society for the Protection of Animals, expressed his satisfaction over the effective measures taken by the Chinese government. The Chinese government and the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) first established the Wolong National Nature Reserve in Sichuan province in 1980. Wild panda numbers have since slowly rebounded as China cracked down on the skin trade. 74

Over the last few decades, international groups and the Chinese government have worked to save wild pandas and breed them in face of their extinction. It is not surprising that the WWF, whose logo has been a panda since 1961, celebrated the panda's re-classification. 75

- A. As a result, our achievements would be quickly lost.
- B. The wild panda population jumped to 1,864 in 2014 from 1,596 in 2004.
- C. Still, other animal protection organizations praised the recovery of the pandas.
- D. Panda has long been a symbol of China and the global conservation movement.
- E. And China gradually expanded its protected forest areas to cover 1.4 million hectares now.
- F. Some pandas have been sent to zoos around the world as a gesture of Chinese diplomatic goodwill.
- G. It says that aggressive investment does pay off when science, political will and engagement come together.

One possible version:

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am the president of the Student Union at the Hongxing Middle School. On behalf of our school, I would like to congratulate you on the new world record you have set. Meanwhile, I am delighted to invite you to give a speech in our school about what you experienced because you are very popular in our school and your stories published in the newspapers are a great source of encouragement to many people.

The activity will be held in our school auditorium on November 17th. It will start from 15:30 and last for 2 hours. The audience may include all the students, staff and some parents. We really hope you can come to make it.

If you are interested in this, please write back to me at your earliest convenience. I am looking forward to your reply.

Sincerely Yours,

Li Hua

四、One possible version:

On August 21st, I was working on my homework, a composition titled "My Hero/Heroine". I was stuck at the very beginning, trying to figure out who my hero/heroine would be. Half an hour passed, yet I still could not come up with any idea.

Attracted by the cheers from the living room, I opened the door only to find they were watching the volleyball match of women's final. Then I decided to take a break and joined them. The sense of excitement and nervousness were overwhelming as the score was quite close between China and its opponent.

To our greatest delight, the Chinese Women's Volleyball Team won in the end and became the champion in the Olympic Games! The moment they stood on the podium with our national flag held in front of them, we couldn't help feeling proud as Chinese!

Right then, I was inspired. The volleyball players had trained so hard before the Olympics and fought till the last minute. With no doubt, they are not only my heroines, but the heroines of China! I rushed to my desk and started to write my composition.

M: How time flies! Christmas is on the way. Have you got gifts for your family, Jenny?

W: Yes. I've bought a pair of shoes for my father, a sweater for my sister and some jewellery for my mother.

Text 2

W: Hurry up, Robert. It's already 6:30. We'll be late for the concert.

M: Take it easy, Mary. The concert starts at 7:30. We can take the 6:50 train. It's just a 15 minutes' ride.

Text 3

M: You said you paid $200 for this poorly-made scarf? That's too expensive!

W: Expensive? Poorly-made? Are you kidding, Daddy? You can't find a better one like this at the price!

Text 4

W: Hello, I am calling to ask when we can look at houses with you.

M: Would you prefer looking in the morning or afternoon?

W: Either is good for me.

Text 5

W: Honey, come and look! These places in the brochure are awesome! Which place shall we go for this vacation?

M: Oh, sorry, I've promised Mark that I am going hunting with him in Alaska.

W: John, you can't be serious!

Text 6

M: Hey, Sue, I'm going to start a band. Will you join me?

W: Sure, Ben. I'd love to. I am crazy about music.

M: What are you good at?

W: I sing. I like music with great lyrics. What about you?

M: Oh, I like music that I can dance to. By the way, which instrument do you play?

W: None actually. I don't play any instrument.

M: Er...I'm afraid we have got a problem with our band.

W: What is it?

M: I can't play any instrument, either.

W: We'd better find some other music lovers to join us. What about Harry? He plays the guitar, doesn't he?

M: Yes, but Harry loves music that's loud and noisy.

W: So what? We can try different music styles.

Text 7

W: Tom, did you go to the basketball game on Friday? I didn't see you.

M: No, I didn't.

W: No? How come? You're always a big fan of basketball. Did you forget about it?

M: No. I really wanted to go, but I just couldn't make it.

W: What a shame! You missed a really good game.

M: Oh, really? Who won?

W: Our school did. They played really well.

M: Too bad! I was busy with my biology project then.

W: Yeah, you should have. It was really exciting.

M: So what was the score?

W: The score was 101-98.

M: Man, that was a really close game!

W: Sure. That's what made it so great. I was on the edge of my seat the whole game.

M: I'll definitely make it to the next game, whatever happens.

Text 8

W: Yes? What can I do for you?

M: It's very cold in the cabin. Is it possible to get a blanket?

W: I'm afraid we're out of blankets, but here's a pillow.

M: OK, thanks. I was asleep during the meal service. Could I get a meal?
W: Sure, but we don't have any more of the Baked Chicken. We only have the Bean Salad left.
M: Oh, OK, I'll take that. Could I also get a drink?
W: Yes, of course. What would you like to have?
M: A diet soda, please.
W: Sorry, we're out of diet soda. But we have coffee, beer and wine. They are $4 each.
M: How about just some water?
W: We do have water.
M: Oh... What's that?
W: That's air turbulence. Make sure your seatbelt is fastened.
M: Could I get an airsickness bag, please?
W: Sure. Wait a minute. I'll be back soon.

With limited membership fee, you will enjoy all the things I have mentioned and I am sure you will not regret it!

Text 10

W: Hello, Jerry's Barbecue & Grill.
M: Hello. I'd like to make an order.
W: OK. This is for pick-up or delivery?
M: Delivery, please.
W: May I have your name and address, please?
M: David Oxen, 679 Wexford Street.
W: Wexford? Could you please spell it?
M: Well, W-E-X-F-O-R-D.
W: OK. And your phone number?
M: 416-848-3932.
W: Great. What would you like?
M: I'll have some brown bread with cheese, and the Pork Rib Dinner.
W: OK. Would you like a half rack or full rack of ribs?
M: Hmm. Is a half rack enough for one person?
W: Well, when I'm hungry, I eat a full rack.

M: I'll have a full rack then. I'm starving!
W: OK. Would you like anything to drink?
M: Well, an orange juice, please.
W: OK. That will be $29.27. How would you like to pay, cash, check or credit card?
M: Can I pay by mobile?
W: Sure. We can deliver your food in 20 minutes.
M: Great! Thank you. Bye for now.
W: OK. Bye! Thanks for calling.
